We have been working with Missing People on creating a multi agency frame work for missing people in the Highlands, we are delighted to inform you that we have the following training available for staff:

Return Discussion E-training

Return Discussion E-Training spaces available for staff who would be the position of completing Return Discussions and who would benefit from completing this training, please contact nhshighland.asptraining@nhs.scot via email if you would be interested in attending.

There are two e-training courses available -one focused on Return Discussions for children and young people and the other for Return Discussions for adults. Each course takes approximately two hours to complete but can be completed a section at a time. Missing People also have created the following:

National Missing Persons Framework Good Practice Toolkit

Missing People have an online toolkit designed to provide those working with missing adults, children, young people, and families in Scotland with tools to support, safeguard and respond to missing incidents. Please access the Toolkit via this link: Welcome to the National Missing Persons Framework Toolkit for professionals in Scotland - Missing People

More information will be added to our Adult Protection Website soon!

New Bitesize Video: Working Together in Adult Support and Protection

Iriss has produced a video encouraging and supporting professionals to put the voice of adults and carers at the centre of their experience in Adult Support and Protection. It also explores the benefits of encouraging participation of adults in the long-term. The video is available here

A day working with Iriss: creating the conditions for change

A day working with Iriss: creating the conditions for change

We invite you to bring your social services problem, idea or hope for change along and work with us to do something about it.

This will be a day of useful tools and practical workshops designed to help you:

- grow your early ideas
- lead change
- Work effectively with the complex and complicated problems we face in social work and social care

- Figure out how to (really) get ideas into practice
- Connect with other changemakers in Scotland

To book your place - Iriss Conference June 2024 - A day working with Iriss Tickets, Thu, Jun 13, 2024 at 10:00 AM | Eventbrite

Understanding age in Child Protection guidance and Adult Support and Protection legislation

This report explores working with 16 and 17 year olds, who might be eligible for support through Adult Support and Protection (ASP) legislation and Child Protection (CP) guidance.

The report provides a Guidance and Legislation table, as a practical tool for social workers of all levels, and other professionals working with 16 and 17 year olds, to view the policy and guidance options available to them. This is complemented by a discussion of the tensions and challenges around supporting 16 and 17 year olds, through a qualitative understanding of some of the experiences practitioners encounter in their work with this age group.

Together, the table and the discussion begin an analysis on what the overlap in ASP and CP means for 16 and 17 year olds, and the practitioners supporting them.
